

BURHAN FOR STATE SENATE

Website Design Brief

Prepared for: Claude Web Designer | Confidential | June 2026

How to Use This Document

This brief covers four pages: Issues, Volunteer, Receipts (proof page), and global elements. The Homepage is already designed and is included only for visual reference.

-  DESIGNER NOTE boxes = visual/interaction guidance for you
-  CAMPAIGN TO PROVIDE boxes = placeholder content the campaign will supply before build

You do not need to worry about any data pipelines, form backends, or third-party integrations. Design the forms and interactions; the campaign's developer will wire them up.

Purpose

Let visitors quickly see what Burhan stands for, then go deep on whatever issue matters to them. The cardinal rule: no detail text is visible on first load. Visitors must actively expand a card to read more.

WHAT BURHAN WILL DELIVER

SUBHEAD

Burhan is running to make Massachusetts affordable. He knows it's possible because he's already started.

Main Video (top of page, above issue cards)

A featured video embed appears above the issue cards as an introduction.

 Designer note: Assume the developer will be able to embed this Instagram reel

Issue Cards — Interaction

△ Designer note: Each issue is presented as a card. Cards are COLLAPSED by default — only the issue title and a one-sentence teaser are visible. The video thumbnail is visible in collapsed state (right side of card). Clicking/tapping the card expands it to reveal full text and the embedded video. Accordion, modal overlay, or inline reveal — your call. Use orange as the active/expanded accent color. No icons — use large bold issue numbers (1–6) in orange as the visual anchor instead.

Issue 1: Housing

CARD — COLLAPSED STATE (DEFAULT)

TEASER TEXT (COLLAPSED)

Allow neighborhoods to build the housing they want and need.

EXPANDED STATE (ON CLICK/TAP)

FULL TEXT (EXPANDED)

Massachusetts has a housing crisis because one hundred years ago, the state began making it illegal to build affordable housing. Burhan knows how to undo those laws and unlock new housing. In Cambridge, he passed the Affordable Housing Overlay and re-legalized triple-deckers and starter homes. As state senator, he'll roll out that model statewide.

He'll also make sure the whole state does their part. Right now, communities like Cambridge and Somerville are building, while the state has to sue other towns just to allow any multifamily housing at all. Burhan will push for a housing-by-right law near transit — modeled after California's SB79 — to override local zoning and allow taller, denser housing within a half-mile of transit stops.

Issue 2: Transit

CARD — COLLAPSED STATE (DEFAULT)

TEASER TEXT (COLLAPSED)

Extend the T and fix the reason it keeps breaking

FULL TEXT (EXPANDED)

The T can be faster, cheaper to run, and more reliable. It just hasn't happened because the people making decisions don't ride it. Burhan's plan: extend the Red Line to Lexington, the Green Line to Medford, and build multiple connectors to make transfers faster. He'll fund this construction by implementing congestion pricing and curtailing the MBTA's spending on redundant consultants.

He'll also fix the MBTA longer term by empowering riders. Today, suburban drivers have more say than Boston metro riders. Burhan will propose a new governing body that gives the people who depend on the T more governance control — because a better T means faster commutes and a stronger local economy for everyone.

Issue 3: Statehouse Transparency & Efficiency

CARD — COLLAPSED STATE (DEFAULT)

FULL TEXT (EXPANDED)

Beacon Hill hasn't been delivering for Massachusetts voters for three reasons.

First, secret voting. Fewer than 100 votes are made public each year, which means bills with 80% public support can die with no record of who killed them. Burhan built Cambridge's public legislative tracker so constituents could see exactly how their representatives voted. He'll push for the same transparency at the Statehouse.

Second, the Statehouse has exempted itself from the public records law that applies to every other governing body in Massachusetts. Burhan will end that exception.

Third, a corrupt compensation system. Legislators earn an $82,000 base salary but can collect an additional $120,000 in stipends, awarded at the sole discretion of Beacon Hill leadership. Any legislator who tries to change the system gets a massive pay cut. Burhan already works on an $83,000 salary, so he has nothing to lose.

Issue 4: Affordability

The number one reason families leave the district is when they have children. Childcare costs more than tuition at UMass, which is why Burhan passed universal pre-K in Cambridge. As state senator, he'll expand that model statewide, putting $21,000 back in every family's pocket.

The second bill that hits families hard is energy. Third-party electricity suppliers have never once saved a customer money. Burhan will ban them on day one. He'll also expand Cambridge's Community Energy bulk-purchasing model to every community in the district — a program that has already returned $95 million in savings to Cambridge residents, nearly $2,000 per household.

Issue 5: Trump & Federal Cuts

CARD — COLLAPSED STATE (DEFAULT)

FULL TEXT (EXPANDED)

Massachusetts is facing one of the deepest recessions in the country right now. NIH cuts are threatening the research hospitals and universities that employ tens of thousands of people. Vaccine program cuts are dismantling the public health programs families depend on.

Burhan's answer is to build a more resilient Massachusetts. He will incentivize businesses to ensure new technology gets manufactured here, not just invented here. He'll also work with other New England states to jointly fund the health and research programs that Washington has walked away from.

Issue 6: Climate

CARD — COLLAPSED STATE

Clean tech is invented here — It's time to build it here, too.

EXPANDED STATE

Massachusetts invents clean energy, but the manufacturing jobs and climate benefits go elsewhere. Burhan will change the green drain by making it easier for manufacturers to stay. He will speed up the permitting process for wind energy, which currently takes a decade to build. And he'll push the state to subsidize geothermal wells and fusion development — because those technologies are good climate policy and an economic strategy for what comes after fossil fuels.

VIDEO

⚠ Designer note: Climate does not have a video. Instead, Display card without a thumbnail — use a bold graphic or still image (e.g. wind turbine photo or illustrated icon) in the thumbnail slot instead, clearly distinguished from the video cards.

HEADLINE

Burhan Has Proved as City Councillor That More Is Possible.

Section A: Stats Bar

Three bold stat callouts in a full-width horizontal band. Designed for maximum impact — large type, high contrast.

- $0 — taken from corporate PACs
 - 20,000 — doors knocked personally by Burhan
 - #1 — 'Most ambitious new zoning anywhere in the nation' (Boston Globe)
- △ Designer note: Each stat should have a large number/value, a short label beneath it, and optional source attribution in small type. Use the blue/orange palette for high contrast.*

Section B: The Last 4 Years (Timeline)

A transit-map-style timeline — the horizontal or vertical dotted/dashed line motif from the brand, with milestone stops. This is the brand's transit visual language applied to a political timeline.

△ Designer note: Use the transit map motif: a horizontal or vertical line with circular 'stop' markers at each year milestone. Each stop has a year label and a one-line win. Treat it like an MBTA map — stops are bold, the line connects them, direction of travel implies progress.

Timeline milestones:

- 2022 — Became youngest-ever City Councillor in Cambridge history
- 2024 — Secured universal childcare for Cambridge
- 2025 — Re-legalized triple deckers statewide
- 2026 — Announced bid for State Senate

Section C: Press Clippings

A gallery of press mentions styled as newspaper clippings. Torn-edge or ruled-border treatment, slightly offset/rotated for tactile feel. Each clipping leads with the publication logo — large, prominent.

△ Designer note: Style as physical newspaper clippings: rough border, slightly off-axis rotation, maybe a drop shadow. Publication logo is the hero — should be immediately recognizable. No article headline — just the pull quote. Keep them skimmable. Arrange as a masonry grid or overlapping collage.
